

Internship/ Working student Psychology/ Digital Health (m/f/x)

Contribute to Manoa, a digital health coach for chronic diseases

Mannheim or Zurich. Full-time or part-time. Remote possible.

We are Pathmate, a digital health startup with locations in Mannheim and in Zurich. We want to enable people with chronic diseases to live a healthier and better life. Therefore, we develop digital health coaches (chatbots) for chronic diseases such as hypertension or diabetes type 2 (check <https://manoa.app>). Join us in our mission as intern or working student!

Pathmate is a team of health psychologists, developers, and data scientists on a path to make its digital coaches more and more personalized to match health status and progression, personal preferences, daily life and behavior. We are an ETH Zurich and University of St. Gallen Spinoff and built on several years of research at the Center for Digital Health Interventions (www.c4dhi.org).

What we offer

- + Design and develop digital health coaches for chronic diseases and mental health issues
- + Benefit from an interdisciplinary team of developers, psychologists, product owners, designers, and data scientists. Answer relevant research questions in a team. Be part of a solution for making the lives of many chronic care patients better.
- + Work in an open-minded and agile startup environment. Take responsibility early on and experience a steep learning curve.
- + Expect to have interesting, multifaceted tasks and great options for personal development and advancement.
- + Be part of a solution for making the lives of many chronic care patients better.

What we are looking for (profile and skills)

- + Students in the field of psychology or education. Healthcare or coaching experience is a plus.
- + Passionate about healthcare innovation. Open-minded attitude to working in a virtual and fast paced environment.
- + Open-minded quick learner with desire to explore and keep up with the latest technologies at an individual level or integrated in a team.
- + Good communication and interpersonal skills for working in a multicultural work environment, including a good level of English and German spoken and written.

Apply now

For more info on the role or to apply please send a CV and brief motivation letter to volland@pathmate-technologies.com.

Personal digital coaches for chronic diseases