Date	Subject	Description
31.08.2022	How to Uni? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Explanations for Portal2 and ILIAS • Sociology/Political Science: Create timetable and read module catalogue 	ILIAS? Wasn't that some Greek god? And where is Portal1 if there is also Portal2? If you are asking yourself the same question, then the Learning Café is the right place for you! As a supplement to other events or in case you missed them, you can ask questions about the university portals Portal2 and ILIAS in the Learning Café. We are happy to help you with your questions! We also support the sociologists and political scientists among you in creating a timetable and reading the module catalogue. The module catalogue of your degree programme gives you an overview of all the courses you have to take during your studies.
07.09.2022	How to Uni? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Campus and library tour (13:30 - 17, meeting point Café Soleil) • Psychology: Create timetable and read module catalogue 	Where can I find what on campus? How does it work in the library and where can I find the book I'm looking for? Where can I find a snack if I get hungry while studying? We will give you an overview of all the important buildings and places in our campus tour. We will meet at 13:30 at Café Soleil, A5 6, 68159 Mannheim.

		In addition, we will support the psychologists among you in creating a timetable and reading the module catalogue.
14.09.2022	General consultation hours and presentation of the Deanery Office	Who is actually working in the background to organise courses, semesters abroad, internships and much more? Get to know the faces behind the emails in a short round of introductions! Afterwards, there will be time for your personal questions to the respective staff members.
21.09.2022	Lerncafé International Room: C116 (Alternative: C217)	This week the Lerncafé especially invites international students to ask their questions from German culture to course organization or language courses.

12.10.2022	(Self-)organisation in studies Examination registration (deregistration, reregistration, compulsory registration for the second date in case of failure of the first attempt at the first date) Room: C116 (Alternative: C217)	Being well organized is already half the rent as Germans would say: Good (self-)organisation is important for successful and stress-free studies. In this week's learning café, we'll exchange tips and strategies to start the semester in a better organised way. Even old hands can still learn something here!

		We will also answer questions about organising exams. How do I register? What happens if I decide not to take the exam at the last minute? What happens if I fail the exam?
19.10.2022	How do I read papers in such a way that I remember what I read? Room: C116 (Alternative: C217)	Sometimes you get the feeling that you can't see the forest for the papers...er...trees. Every week you read many different articles on different topics and sometimes you've already forgotten everything. Sound familiar? There are a few reading techniques that can change that!
26.10.2022	Exam preparation: What is the best way to prepare? Room: C116 (Alternative: C217)	The exam period is almost upon us! How can I prepare effectively without getting into time stress?
02.11.2022	Stress management Room: C116 (Alternative: C217)	The next deadline is approaching, next week there's another presentation and the exam period is just around the corner: studying can sometimes be quite stressful. A little stress management can help from time to time. This week in the Learning Café, we'll be talking to you about strategies to get away from the stress a little. We are especially looking forward to a great exchange - because everyone has a different promising technique that others may not know about yet!
